Hi, my name is Nicole. Today I’m going to talk to you about a few different subjects related to the readmission process.

First, let’s talk about academic holds. An academic hold is basically a block on your account that can prevent you from conducting university business such as registering for classes or receiving your academic transcript.

Holds can be placed on your account for a number of reasons. Common reasons include outstanding charges such as loan balances, parking tickets, or healthcare fees. Or, it could be as simple as not having completed an exit interview.

If you have an active myPurdue account, you can look for holds by clicking on the holds tab within your account. Once in your account, you will see a hold for Academic Ineligibility. This may stay on your account, but holds for anything other than academic ineligibility must be cleared before submitting a readmission application. In your account you will also see information about the appropriate office to contact in order to clear any holds you might have.

If you do not have an active myPurdue account, you will need to contact the Office of the Dean of Students at the number listed on the readmission website to determine your hold status.

Remember, holds for anything other than academic ineligibility must be cleared before submitting a readmission application.

Now let’s move on to discussing deadlines for submitting your readmission application and readmission fee.

- For Fall consideration, your application must be submitted by July 1.
- For Spring consideration, your application must be submitted by November 1.
- For Summer consideration, your application must be submitted by April 1.

Applications are considered in the order in which they are received and processing can take anywhere between six to eight weeks. So we encourage you to turn in your application as soon as possible.

Finally, a $100 nonrefundable fee is due at the time you submit your readmission application. The payment will be part of the online application process, so you’ll need to have your credit card or banking information nearby when you complete the application.
Thank you, and please stay tuned for the next video segment about the readmission process.
